Owing to precarious condition of the Oregon-Idaho bridge between Weiser and Riverdale a number of our people are doing their shopping in Payette. The bridge is in bad shape and a number of travelers have narrowly escaped accidents. Saturday afternoon a lady and a number of children in a two horse rig were saved from death by the foresight of a number of men who held the frightened team and kept the rig from backing into a hole over the deep water. Howard Lee, one of the boys drowned on Dec. 3, was found Wednesday below the bridge, and was buried Sunday afternoon in Weiser. Day after day a continual search has been kept up but no trace of Evans has been found.
